Brief description of purpose and content: When you listen to the voices of your fellow teachers, do you hear lots of words of positive encouragement and reinforcement for making wise choices or do you hear loud voices saying . . . No! Stop! Don't! Learn ways to redirect children in positive ways. Also, it may be necessary to change the environment to a

"YES" environment. Usually a child will react negatively in an environment that is overly stimulating. This workshop will show you ways to help little Johnny to calm down without the loud voice of the teacher and still provide a wonderful environment of many learning opportunities.
